

NORTHERN TERRITORY

NT has 2 main towns, Alice Springs in the south and Darwin in the north. Alice Springs is in the centre of the Australian continent and has a hot desert climate it is well known to people visiting Uluru and the Olga's and often referred to as the red centre because of the vivid terracotta earth.

Darwin is a complete contrast and enjoys a tropical Lifestyle with the famous Kakadu and Katherine Gorge main tourist attractions of the area.

The NT has a population of 200,000 most in the tropical north, large areas of the state are Aboriginal reserves where Aborigines can maintain their traditional lifestyle.

Life in the outback can be harsh, there are large cattle stations and mining is a growing industry a recently constructed rail link from Darwin to Adelaide opening up export opportunities to Asia.
